

Bluenog is an enterprise software and solutions company with a mission - to deliver practical solutions that integrate commercial and open source technologies to meet customer needs. We:

- Offer commercial products, built on leading open source CMS, portal and BI projects, enhanced with integration, support and indemnification
- Forge strong partnerships with both commercial technology leaders and open source organizations
- Maintain deep technology expertise and broad implementation skills
- Provide end-to-end consulting capabilities from architecture, best practices and strategy to post implementation needs

We keep all of this simple to deliver real business value as quickly and seamlessly as possible. The result? Solutions that are a true win-win for CIOs, IT administrators, developers, and ultimately, end-users.

Software Solutions

Bluenog is first and foremost an Enterprise 2.0 software company. Our flagship product, Bluenog ICE, is an Integrated Collaborative Environment built on open source content management, open source portal and open source business intelligence software. It eliminates application silos, reduces total cost of ownership and accelerates application development.

Leading organizations, such as IEEE, Multiplan and Columbia University rely on Bluenog ICE to build and deploy Rich Internet Applications (RIA) and manage dynamic website content at a fraction of the cost of traditional alternatives.

The Bluenog ICE environment includes:

- A pre-integrated suite of software built on the latest open source technologies to provide a comprehensive enterprise solution
- Out-of-the-box integration to leading commercial offerings, such as Oracle Fusion, Sungard Banner and Documentum
- An easy-to-use, Eclipse-based application development environment
- A foundation application, which is provided as a starter business application or can be used as sample code

Consulting Services

Bluenog Solutions Group (BSG) provides the resources and expertise needed – combining commercial and open source software – to build pragmatic solutions tailored for each client's unique environment. Our team has extensive project lifecycle management experience delivering projects using a variety of open source and commercial technologies.

Technology Reseller

Bluenog is an Authorized Reseller of Oracle, Actuate and Red Hat products.

Bluenog's Business Model